Apple Leadership and Learning Event

You're invited.

Apple recognizes you as a leader in your district, responsible for the transformation of teaching and learning. Please join us and other education leaders to explore how new learning experiences are changing the education landscape, making learning more accessible, relevant, and personal.

Here's some of what you'll experience at this event:

- Join a conversation about new possibilities for changing the learning environment.
- Discover how mobile devices and engaging materials can help you facilitate new approaches to learning and teaching.
- Experience a variety of educational apps, Multi-Touch textbooks, and learning resources—and see how they support emerging trends in education.
- Learn about essential elements for creating technology-rich learning environments based on best practices from schools around the world.

You'll leave the event excited, energized, and ready to lead your organization through the move to an engaging new learning environment.

Who should attend

Division Superintendent, IT Officer, Chief Curriculum Implementing Division, Chief School Governance & Operations Division, School Principals and Representative of Private Corporation/partner of school.
