The following are the suggested contents of PowerPoint:

1. INTRODUCTION

The INTRODUCTION should contain:

- » Situational analysis of the problem
- » Gap in the literature from the literature reviews that the study intends to find.
- » Differentness of the study from other previous studies.
- » Relevance of the study.

2. RESEARCH QUESTIONS/OBJECTIVES

- » Specify the aims of the research

3. FRAMEWORK (if applicable)

- » It should contain a basic explication of the meaning of the variables of the study.
- » Present the framework in either schematic or textual form merging the theories discussed in which the study was anchored.
- » Provide a diagram if necessary.
- » No diagram is required for qualitative studies

4. METHODOLOGY

- » Research Design
- » Research Participants and Sampling
- » Instrumentation
- Reliability and Validity
- » Data Analysis

Note: Methods may vary for Information technology, Business, and Engineering Disciplines (Non-IMRAD formats)

5. RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

- » Summary tables and significant results, graphs, charts
- » Long tables with brimming data should be avoided

6. CONCLUSIONS/IMPLICATIONS

- » Highlight new discovery (if any) that you obtained only after completing the study, something (not found in the literature) which contributes to new knowledge.

» This section supports or negates previous conclusions, validates the theory used, and/or generates new theory.
