Madam:

To promote innovation and scientific inquiry skills by engaging students in discussions about their research methodologies, results, and implications from diverse STEM disciplines, we, the STEM Local Government Unit Officers of Cor Jesu College Inc. Senior High School, extend our warmest invitation to the Senior High schools within Digos Division to participate in an upcoming event we are organizing. The event will take place on the 13th day of May in the Norbert Auditorium of Cor Jesu College from 12 p.m. to 5 p.m. with the theme, “Power The Planet: Developing Alternative Sustainable and Energy-Efficient Innovations for the Future of STEM.” This forum not only demonstrates our commitment to academic excellence as a school but also serves as a platform for fostering creativity and developing sustainable solutions in the fields of Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (STEM).

With this, Cor Jesu College – Basic Education invites all public and private Senior High STEM schools within the division of Digos City to take part and display their best and most notable research papers for this event through research presentations. In the event that there are no research presenters, up to five (5) forum delegates may still participate as spectators. Moreover, beyond meeting academic criteria, we aim to cultivate a culture of research excellence and collaborative learning.

Please do not hesitate to contact us should you require any further information or assistance. You can reach us by calling +639075738419 or messaging us on our official Facebook page, CJC SH STEM Division. We are delighted to offer additional information and support as necessary. Thank you for your consideration of this invitation.

Yours sincerely,

HANNAH MARY G. KOLENCHERIL
STEM Governor
